Program Measures

United Way of Abilene is accountable to the community and its donors to fund programs that deliver results and produce the maximum intended benefit in our community. As such, United Way of Abilene requires all applicants to identify clear and concise program measurements. These serve both to project and assess program impact. When forming these measures organizations should consider three questions:

1. What service will your program provide?
2. How many people will benefit from your program?
3. How will you know people have benefitted from your program?

To ensure accountability and transparency, United Way of Abilene has established the following application review and decision-making process:

3. Final determinations are made by the United Way of Abilene Board of Directors. Notification of decisions will be made in December 2022. United Way of Abilene's community investment process involves extensive community input, transparency, and due diligence. All decisions by the United Way of Abilene Board of Directors are final. United Way of Abilene makes investments and does thorough program reviews on a 3-year cycle. At the discretion of the United Way of Abilene Board of Directors, volunteer committees, and staff, programs may be invited to enter the 3-year cycle or may be reviewed more frequently.

- Demonstration of resources and collaborations used to reach desired outcomes for the target population

Continuation of funding during the investment period is contingent upon program reporting and performance.

All funded programs must be positioned to gather data to enable timely reporting. Reports will be submitted electronically, as determined by United Way of Abilene. All invested partners are expected to cooperate with assessment activities deemed necessary by United Way of Abilene.
